THE AMAZING SHRINKING MAN

Professor NITRO has been working for many years on the reduction of live cells. His research was on the point of completion when, in a state of euphoria due to his imminent success, he drank his preparation believing that it was a glass of water. Immediately he became so small that he fell into the rubbish bin next to his desk. So begins his struggle against a multitude of assailants including ants and chewing-gum ! as he endeavours to regain his normal size by gathering the different pieces of his formula, which had been discarded in the rubbish bin, and the different ingredients from which it is made. The Amazing Shrinking Man will run on Amstrad CPC 464, 664 and 6128 computers, with a disk drive or tape recorder, with or without joystick.
