FUTURE Bike SIMULATOR

In 1995 extreme legislation by world governments banned the motorcycle as we know it today.

Finnius M Houlder, multi-billionaire extraordinaire and almost certainly the world's richest man, incensed by this banning of his most loved sport—the motorcycle—set his research labs to work on a 'legal' replacement.

A vehicle that got around the laws.

In 1999, the result — FUTURE BIKE.

Capable of speeds in excess of 300 mph in fully faired form this anti-grav wheel-less wonder took the world by storm. Finnus Houlder bought up large chunks of land (privatised motorways) in virtually every industrialised country.

The result — THE STRIP.

No juggernauts, no jam sandwiches, no fast lane crawlers, just out and out speed, but, watch out, there are hazards.

GO — BREAK A LEG
